

The Free Expression Myth on America's Campuses

Adam Kissel

Foundation for Individual Rights in Education

Monday, April 21, Bemis Great Hall, 9:00 p.m.

Adam Kissel, a graduate of Harvard University and the University of Chicago's Committee on Social Thought, is Director of the Individual Rights Defense Program at the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education. He studies the history and theory of liberal education and the history and theory of rhetoric. He has authored a guide to essay writing and has served as professional editor for Nobel laureate James Heckman and other faculty across the disciplines. Before joining FIRE, Adam was a director of the Lehrman American Studies Center and the Jack Miller Center for the Teaching of America's Founding Principles. Kissel can be reached at adam@thefire.org

The speaker is sponsored by the Political Science Department.
This flyer is sponsored by the Journalism Minor.