

- Guest(s) may stay no more than 2 consecutive nights on open visitation days and for a maximum of 6 nights per semester
- There are no more than 2 overnight guests per apartment at any given time
- Cohabitation is not occurring

Visitation is a privilege within the residential community. In the event that the above conditions are not met, Office of Housing and Residence Life staff members reserve the right to require a guest(s) to leave immediately and disciplinary action may occur.

Harassment

Harassment includes physical abuse, verbal abuse, threats, intimidation, coercion and/or other conduct (in person, written, or otherwise), which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person. Fighting words and statements which reasonably endanger the health and safety of any person are not protected speech and may result in University action. Residents found responsible for or associated with any form of harassment may be subject to disciplinary action.

Electronic Harassment:

Electronic harassment includes, but is not limited to, annoying, abusive, excessive, threatening, or obscene messages sent via e-mail or instant messenger, posted on Facebook, MySpace, blogs, or other electronic media.

Telephone Harassment:

Telephone harassment includes, but is not limited to, annoying, abusive, excessive, threatening, or obscene phone calls designed to irritate, anger, or threaten a listener. If a resident receives a threatening phone call or continued harassing calls, he/she should notify a Resident Assistant (RA) or another Office of Housing and Residence Life staff member immediately. The student is advised to keep a log of the calls and will be encouraged to file a report with the FGCU Police Department.

Verbal Abuse:

Shouting or making rude, vulgar, derogatory, indecent or obscene comments and gestures to Office of Housing and Residence Life staff members and/or other community members is also considered harassment.

Identification

The student identification card is the official University identification. Identification is required of any person on University property, and the ID card must be presented to any FGCU official upon request. If the ID card (or other suitable ID such as a driver's license) is not presented to a FGCU official upon request, the individual(s) will be asked to leave or will be escorted off campus by the University Police. Acts of furnishing a University official with a false form of identification or using someone else's identification may also result in disciplinary action (see false identification/false information for additional information.)

Keys

Residents are issued keys to their rooms at the beginning of each semester. Upon losing a key, residents should report the loss immediately to the Commons reception desk. Residents who
